We Learn From the Christmas Story

There is so much we can learn from the Christmas story! Here are two things to think about:

1. Jesus was born into a family, which we call the Holy Family. Our own families are also holy because they are places where we have fun, learn and grow. We also make mistakes and forgive members of our family. Families can be made up of many different people who are connected because they do their best to love one another.

What is one thing you have learned or really enjoy about being part of your family? _____

What is one thing that can be difficult about being part of your family? _____

Talk to an adult who is part of your family. Ask her/him to write down the answers to the same questions you have answered. What adult did you talk to? _____

What is one thing you have learned or really enjoy about being part of your family? _____

What is one thing that can be difficult about being part of your family? _____

Notice if you and the adult in your family gave similar or different answers to these questions.

2. The Magi, or Three Wise Men or Three Kings, came from the east to see Jesus. In the time of Jesus, “the east” was far away and people were afraid of these foreigners and did not interact with them. But Jesus welcomed them. No one was excluded from the inner circle of Jesus’ followers and friends.

What is one time when you felt very welcomed or you welcomed someone else who was new to your school or was different than you?
